

National Institute of Design (NID), an internationally acclaimed multi-disciplinary design institute is pleased to announce a two-day workshop on “Design Interventions for Smart Cities”. It will be conducted at NID Ahmedabad, Gujarat during February 20th & 21st 2017, (2-day non-residential programme).

The Industry & Online Programme (I&OP) of NID integrates design knowledge and education with the varied segments of industry, commerce, and service sectors. The objective of this workshop is to acquaint wide range of stakeholders dealing with urban policies, management, planning, design, security, environment, technology and more with the challenges of the proposed smart cities on the one hand and the way to find their solutions through the creative and innovative interventions of design. It will be meaningful for the students and researchers in related areas too.

This workshop will be conducted at the lush-green NID Ahmedabad campus by the experienced NID faculty members and other distinguished academicians and domain experts. We are enclosing the details of the workshop and look forward to your participation.
